Art Unit: 1793

This action is in response to applicants' amendment of 16 March 2009. The objection to the disclosure over the definition of "microfine" is withdrawn since page 16, lines 18-19 implicitly teaches the meaning of this term. The new drawings have overcome the objection to the drawings and the objection to the disclosure with respect to the flow chart on page 27. The amendments to the claims have overcome the 35 USC 112 rejection. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection based on applicants' amendments to the claims.

JP 2002-156498, cited in the information disclosure statement of 14 April 2009, has been considered with respect to the provided English abstract.

Claims 7-24 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 30 July 2008.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

There is no teaching in the originally filed disclosure of configuring the particles. Thus this limitation is new matter.

Applicants state that page 53, lines 10-21 provided support for this limitation, but these lines address the intended use of the particles. These lines never teach configuring the particles.

Art Unit: 1793

It is noted that the disclosed use in films, liquids, paste and in a converter are directed to non-elected inventions.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 states the particles are configured to receive light from a light source in a device. It is unclear what is meant by this limitation. It is also unclear if the “in a device” refers to the light source or to the particles. Thus it is unclear if the particles are in a device or if light source is in a device. There is no teaching in the originally filed disclosure of configuring the particles to receive light, thus the specification does not define what is meant by “configuring”. Thus the claims are indefinite.

Once the new matter rejection has been overcome, the previous art rejections and obviousness-type double patenting rejection may be reinstated.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 1793
